BATTLE LASTED THIRTY HOURS

Montenegrin Forces Gain a Great Victory—All Ottoman Batteries are Silenced

PODGORITZA, Montenegro, Oct. 10.—The Montenegrins have captured Detelich mountains. The Turkish commander and many officers with many soldiers have surrendered.

For the past 30 hours the battle between the Montenegrin forces under direct command of King Nicholas and Turkish troops strongly entrenched in the hills has been in progress. The fight began at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, the first shot being fired by Prince Peter against the Turkish position on Mount Planiniza. Within a few hours the Turks evacuated that district.

Strongly fortified positions were occupied by the Turks however, on Detelich mountain which commands the road to Scutari, and reinforcements were brought up, which resulted in a general engagement which extended along the line of several miles.

King Nicholas remained at his headquarters at Podgoritza while crown Prince Danilo directed operations at the front. The Montenegrins resumed the bombardment of Detelich at dawn and a heavy cannonading was kept up until eleven o'clock in the morning when they were silenced.

In the meantime a great battle was proceeding near the Turkish town of Tushli and about 15 miles to the South of Podgoritza. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the Turkish commander on Detelich with his officers and a majority of his troops surrendered. The Montenegrins captured four guns.

The Montenegrin standard was hoisted over the captured position. There were heavy losses on both sides but the Montenegrin camp gave itself over to rejoicing on the first victory in the war.

A division of Montenegrins commanded by General Vukotich crossed the frontier early this morning near Berana.

BILL OF EXCEPTIONS.

Error Charged by Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Charging that error was committed by Justice Wright of the district supreme court in allowing their trial on contempt of court to proceed before the taking of testimony had been concluded before a referee, Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the labor leaders, yesterday filed a bill of exceptions with the supreme court. Their case is now on its way to the district court of appeals.

TWO PRISONERS MAKE GET AWAY FROM EXETER JAIL

A. C. Lang and Joseph Hardy
Take French Leave.

Two prisoners, A. C. Lang of Providence and Joseph Hardy of Exeter, made their escape from Exeter jail on Thursday evening and up to a late hour no trace of them had been found. The men had been allowed the privilege of going out in the yard and were in charge of Beverly S. McLaughlin. When the keeper was not looking the pair slipped.

Lang was committed to the jail Sept. 15, and was awaiting the sitting of the superior court. He was charged with getting money under false pretense from a grocer in Hampton. He came to Exeter and conducted a fair in aid of the Boys' club.

Hardy went to jail last May on an adultery charge.

BOSTON LEADS NEW YORK

In the sixth inning, Boston 2, New York 0, in the World's Series at New York, Boston made one run in the second and one in the fourth. Batteries—Wood and Cady for Boston, Tesreau and Meyers for New York. The weather cleared at 9 o'clock. One of the largest crowds of the season, fans from Boston going wild as Boston continues to hold the lead.

LOCAL GREEKS WAITING FOR CALL

Between Twenty-Five and Thirty Expect to go to Mother Country in Event of War

The members of the local Greek colony are anxiously awaiting a call by the mother country to return there and take up arms against the Turks.

On Thursday a telegram was received from the Hellenic Association headquarters in New York to have all of the available men in readiness to proceed to Boston at once, in case a call was issued.

In conversation with a prominent member of the Greek colony today, he stated that of the forty-seven members of the colony in this city between twenty-five and thirty were subject to military duty and would respond to the first call.

A number of the Greeks have become naturalized American citizens, but this will not stop them from taking up arms in defense of their mother country. As one member expressed it, "Our fight is for our mothers and sisters," and to free our people from the cruel oppressions of the Turks.

Peter Nichols, who recently disposed of his business, was planning to pass his vacation in Greece, after twenty years' absence from that country. To The Herald man he stated that in the event of war he should volunteer for service to fight and perhaps die for his country.

The spirit of patriotism is rampant among the local Greeks and they will respond to the first call to take up arms for the mother country.

BIG INTEREST IN AUTO RACES AT ROCKINGHAM

Large Number of Entries and Good Racing Expected.

The later entries for the auto and motorcycle races at Rockingham Park on Columbus Day, next Saturday, gives greater promise than ever of an afternoon of thrills as these powerful destroyers of distance go flashing around the track. John Morrill of the Centre street garage has entered a Staver-Chicago in event No. 4, which is a ten mile race for professionals drivers, non stop cars, 231 to 300 displacement. Harry Grant will drive it.

The official announcement has just been made that Harry Grant will drive the wire wheel Stutz car, which was made especially for the Vanderbilt Cup Race in Milwaukee. In both the Rockingham Park trophy race and the 20 mile match race, the 20 mile match race which will be the special event of the day, will be between the winners of the Rockingham trophy race and the 25 mile match race for the professional drivers in class B and Harry Grant. The reason for making this match is to allow the local professional drivers to have a full chance at the prize money. It is recognized that they are equally as good drivers as many of those driving at Milwaukee, but they have not had an opportunity to drive in the big events to the fact that the cars with which they are connected are not featured in the racing fame by the manufacturers.

According to the rules of the F. A. M., all motor cyclists who race at a place where admission is charged after October 1 become professionals. Channing H. Burbank of Dover, N. H., will give an exhibition speed trial with his Indian "7."

FINE PROGRAM.

Vaudeville and Pictures at Music Hall Are the Best.

Miss Orbits the singer of illustrated songs at this theatre made a great impression upon the audience last evening by the manner in which she rendered the ballad "Mine." Her voice is of purely Mezzo quality and of excellent range. If her work last night is a criterion her services here will certainly give much satisfaction.

The Thukham Duo, those Western Cyclists about whom so much has been written appeared in the most sensational bicycle act ever witnessed. To describe the courage and ability displayed by these young men, is quite impossible. The act is close to the so called "Cape of Death" and is the most miraculous piece of work imaginable. FOUND A FRIEND.

Dorando, the Train Dog, Arrives in Town.

After an absence of several weeks Dorando, the train dog, who has traveled many miles on the railroads of the country, reached here this Friday morning. This can be classed as Dorando's home as Harry K. Torrey purchased a Portsmouth license is presumed did not know that Mr. Torrey had joined the army of bond-ollets, when he stopped off for a visit in this city, he however found another staunch friend in Mr. Sommer of the Rockingham County Light and Power Company, who seeing the rain soaked animal outside the company's office called him in. An electric radiator was put in operation and Dorando took a position in front of it and was soon enjoying all the comforts of home.

Superintendent Murray of the Providence police has asked the local officers to watch out for a ladies' fur coat valued at $1,100, stolen in that city between 6:30 p. m., October 9, and 11:30 p. m., October 10. The glad-rag is described as a black lamb coat (sometimes called broadtail), very fine quality, unlined, size 38, about 52 inches long, shawl collar. No doubt a substantial bit of change awaits the finder of the coat as the police of Providence are decidedly anxious for a line on the expensive garment.

ENGLAND STILL OBJECTS TO PANAMA BILL

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The whole matter of the Panama Canal bill together with the views of the legal advisers to the British Crown on the subject is under consideration by the cabinet was the reply today of Sir Edward Grey, British secretary for foreign affairs to a question in the house of commons.

W. A. S. Hewins a Unionist member asked whether the British foreign office had received and definite reply to the representations made to the United States and whether the British government was making any further presentation.

Sir Edward Grey said: "In informing the United States of Great Britain's intention to address a communication to Washington when the Panama bill had been received and considered the foreign office added that there should be eventually a difference between the two countries in regard to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which could not be settled by other means. Great Britain would ask that it be referred to arbitration."

Replying to a further question as to whether he had seen a statement made by President Taft that the British representations had been made tardily Sir Edward Grey said he had not seen it and would be glad to know its date because the bill did not pass in its final form until the end of August.

Immediately the British foreign office knew that the bill had passed it stated that it would consider the measure in its final form and then make representations. Great Britain had expressed its view of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty while the Panama canal bill was in progress but it was impossible to make a final communication in regard to the bill which was then being shaped.

Great Britain therefore stated that it would address a further communication to Washington when the bill had taken its final form, and after it had been considered by the British government.

Replying to a question by Arthur Lee, Unionist member as to whether Great Britain would postpone its representations until after the presidential election, Sir Edward Grey said that it would require considerable time but was not dependent upon the internal affairs of the United States.

AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Deaten by the final jump, trailing by the score of 4 to 2, the Giants attack in the first game of the World's series fell upon Joe Wood in the ninth round and came within one blow of tearing of the victory. With the count 4 to 2, Herzog on third and Becker on second, Wood rose to the supreme test by striking out Fletcher and

Crandall in a row, while 35,000 New York fans groaned a chorus of despair. The Red Sox won, and the jump game went to Boston. Stopped for five rounds without a hit by Tesreau, the mammoth, trailing by one run, the red holed legion broke from its listless, runless, trance in the sixth, and within two rounds had battered hammered and smashed their way to victory. They beat him after five rounds of the finest world's series pitching in all history. For five fleeting stanzas Tesreau out-pitched Smoky Joe, but in these five rounds Jeff pumped out the vital spark. Wood started with blazing speed, but with a touch of nervous flutters. He braved the storm until the third, when the Giants scored two runs.

RECEIVED VISIT FROM GRAND SIRE OF THE I.O.O.F.

Past Grand Representative Samuel Hilton of the I.O.O.F. who is confined to his home on South street by serious illness was greatly honored on Thursday evening by a visit from the Grand Sire of the Sovereign Grand Lodge Hon. Columbus A. Keller of San Antonio, Tex. The Grand Sire was in Manchester on Wednesday attending the session of the grand lodge of this state and when he learned that Mr. Hilton was so ill he made arrangements to make him a special visit.

He was accompanied by his wife and Grand Representative Charles S. Emerson and Past Grand Master C. A. Kenney of Dover. Mr. Keller is a close friend of Mr. Hilton and his visit did a great deal to cheer him up. He is still very ill and will be confined to his home for some time. The Grand Sire and party left late in the afternoon for Dover, Osgood Lodge of this city and the Riverside Lodge I.O.O.F. of Kittery went to Dover on Thursday evening on a special train to attend a reception to Grand Sire Columbus A. Keller of the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

ETTOR DENIED BAIL BY JUDGE QUINN

SALEM COURTHOUSE, Oct. 10.—Caruso, Ettor and Giovannitti will not be released from jail on bail. This was the decision of Judge Quinn this morning in the Superior Criminal court. Counsel for the defendants filed a motion in court yesterday for the release on bail of the trio who are involved in the alleged murder of Annie Lopez, in Lawrence, on January 29, last.

The court came today at 9:30 a. m. James H. Sisk, counsel for Caruso, who is under indictment as one of the principals in the alleged murder was present when Judge Quinn took his seat on the bench. No conversation ensued, but clerk Woodbury handed Mr. Sisk a note reading as follows:

"Assuming this court has authority to entertain the within motion, as to which I have grave doubt, I find that the defendant is not entitled as of right to be admitted to bail, and that there is no such cause as moves the court in the exercise of its discretion, to release the defendant on bail. The motion is therefore denied."

J. F. Quinn, JSC.

Similar decision was made on the motions filed for the release of Ettor and Giovannitti.

Lawyers and others stated in the corridor that the decision of Judge Quinn was expected as it did not appear probable that the court would permit release of the defendants from jail especially after trial had been begun.

A motion for a writ of Habeas corpus having been denied in the Supreme Court some months ago, the defendants have no appeal from the decision of Judge Quinn today.

The attorneys now have under consideration a request that the prisoners be allowed to sit with them at the counsel table during court sessions, instead of being locked in the prisoners' cage. This may be permitted by the court at his discretion, it is claimed.

The trial of Ettor Giovannitti and Caruso will be resumed next Monday morning when a new venire of 350 salesmen will report for examination, as the majority of the peremptory challenges allowed each side has been used.

Anna Lopizzo was shot during a night riot in connection with the Lawrence textile strike last January. Ettor and Giovannitti are charged with being accessories before the fact and Caruso is alleged to have been a principal in the affair.

GIANTS EVEN UP GAMES WITH RED SOX

Win Second Game After Great Battle, 2 to 1--Boston Made Great Ninth Inning Rally.

The Giants evened up things in Thursday's game of the World's series by defeating the Red Sox on their own grounds 2 to 1. While the game was not so sensational as that of the game of Wednesday, it was much better ball as the score would indicate. Buck O'Brien was the "slab" artist for the Red Sox and Rube in the last inning, but only got one run. The crowd, numbered 36,000, larger than that of Wednesday.

The threatening weather of the early morning kept some of the out of town fans away, and there was no such rush for the unreserved seats as the first day, and it was easy to get good bleacher seats at 12.30, the crowd however, soon took everything in sight.

The game was started at 2 o'clock with the Giants up and both failed to score in the first.

The Giants got a cheap run in the second.

Murray made a two base hit to right center, Merkle sacrificed and was out, O'Brien to Stahl. Murray went to third on the play. Murray scored on Herzog's sacrifice fly to Hooper, whose throw to the plate failed to catch the fleet New York fielder. Meyers was out, Gardner to Stahl. 1 run 1 hit, no errors.

The Red Sox got one man on in their half on Lewis' single to center, and he was sacrificed to second by Gardner, by Stahl popped a fly and Wagner fanned.

Neither side scored in the third or fourth but the Giants got over another man in the fifth and threatened to put the game on ice.

Herzog put a hit for two bases down the left field line. Meyers went out O'Brien to Stahl, Herzog taking third, Herzog scored on Fletcher's single to right, Fletcher stole second, Carrigan's throw being a little low. Marquard walked as O'Brien became unsettled over the New York hitting. Redent began to warm for Boston. Marquard was forced at second when Wagner took Devore's bouncer and tossed it to Yerkes, Fletcher took third on the play. Devore stole second, Fletcher being held at third, Doyle was purposely passed to first, and the bases were filled with two out. With three balls and two strikes called on Snodgrass the crowd was in a ferment of excitement. Snodgrass fled to Lewis and the suspense was over for Boston. One run, two hits, no errors.

There was no more scoring until the ninth, the Red Sox never being dangerous and Buck O'Brien was holding the Giants. In the eighth Engle batted to Carrigan and Ball for O'Brien and Cady and Bedient took their places. The Red Sox made a great effort in the ninth. Speaker the first man up was out on a long fly, Lewis beat out a hit to Merkle, Gardner hit a long ball to the left field bleachers and Lewis scored, and Gardner was held at second. He was thrown out at third on Stahl's infield hit and he was advanced on Wagner's single. With a man on third and first Cady hit a long fly to right which looked good for three bases but Devore made a wonderful catch winning the game for the Giants as the hit would have been good for two runs.

PRESIDENT TAFT ON CALIFORNIA DECISION

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—After the state supreme court ruled that the Presidential electors selected by the Roosevelt wing of the Republican party were entitled to the party designation on the ballot, Chairman Brenner sent to President Taft a telegram setting forth the conditions that confront the Taft wing of the party. In response the President telegraphed:

"Your telegram received. I thank you for the kind words of the republican State Committee. I am sure if the regular republicans are to be denied the right of franchise through the unjust action of the machine now in control of California politics their indigestible conduct must ultimately react to their injury. Whatever you do I shall be grateful for your support."

Awakened from a sound sleep Van Pelt failed to note that his wife was not at his side and hearing footfalls, mistook her for a burglar. She had risen to get a drink of water. A bullet entered her mouth.

THE ODD FELLOWS MAKE TRIP TO DOVER

Over two hundred members of the I. O. O. F. of Kiltary went to Dover on Thursday evening on a special train to attend a reception to Grand Sire Columbus A. Kellar of the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

The Odd Fellows, accompanied by the Veteran Fife and Drum band, with a few over two hundred in line marched from their hall on Congress street to the depot, via Congress, Pleasant State, Congress, Vaughan and Deer streets. They had a generous amount of red fire and looked well marching.

A special train was engaged for the trip up and back, and upon their arrival in Dover they marched to Odd Fellows Hall where they were given a great reception.

The meeting was for the purpose to receive the Grand Sire who on Wednesday visited the Grand Lodge in this state, and used Dover as a central place where the lodges of this section of the state could gather. The return home was at an early hour this morning.

TAFT'S RIDE DOWN THE AVENUE.

The call Mr. Wilson made on Mr. Taft in Boston the other day was one of those things that sweeten our politics. While opposing each other as party leaders, the two men are personal friends and hold each other in much esteem. This meeting, we may all be sure, was unaffectedly cordial, and the salutations exchanged entirely sincere.

And if it falls to Mr. Taft's lot to escort Mr. Wilson to the Capital next March he will do so gracefully and with the best of personal feeling. The two men in a carriage together driving down Pennsylvania avenue between rows of cheering citizens will present an inspiring picture. Any citizen present may point with pride to it and say to any foreigner at his elbow, "That is the way we do business in America."

But let us suppose Mr. Roosevelt elected. Let us suppose him seated by Mr. Taft's side. Let us suppose the crowd good-natured and at attention. What in effect would be the English of Mr. Roosevelt's presence, and what the meaning of his bearing on the occasion?

His smiles and nods would be translatable into these terms: "My fellow-citizens, you welcome me back, and I am glad to get back. Glad on your account. We have escaped destruction by a narrow margin. I shudder to think of what would have followed four years more of Will Taft! Did any man in high office ever betray a high cause more completely? Did any man of his grade ever make a more objectionable mess of things?"

"And then consider that he tried to hold on by means of theft. His backers, under inspiration from him, stole the nomination for him. He made the race against me as the receiver of stolen goods. If I may employ the lingo of his kind, he was a 'fence' in the contest just closed."

"I grant you, my fellow-citizens, that I was in part to blame. I had recommended him to you as the man above all others for the job, and it was largely on my word that you accepted him. But we have done what we could to repair the damage, and I am now on the way to take hold again. The 'fence' goes out, and I come in, and all will soon be well again."

What would be the feelings of a citizen called upon to interpret that picture to a visiting foreigner? Those of pride? Would he relish even in his secret soul seeing blackguardism thus triumphant? Fortunately for both the feelings and the interests of American citizens, the picture will not be presented. Mr. Roosevelt will not appear in public again in the company of Mr. Taft, whom he has outraged in every way, personal and political.—Washington Star.

The Insincerity of New Hampshire Progressives.

In a recent speech at Nashua Governor Bass said: "The Progressives in their platform demand the immediate repeal of the Canadian reciprocity treaty." This is true, and is another evidence of the insincerity of the Progressive leaders in their utterances upon any matter that promises votes for their candidates.

When the treaty was under consideration by President Taft, he consulted Mr. Roosevelt in regard to the matter, and received from him a letter in which he said:

"It seems to me that what you propose to do with Canada is admirable from every standpoint. I firmly believe in free trade with Canada for both economic and political reasons. As you say, labor cost is substantially the same in the two countries, so that you are amply justified by the platform. Whether Canada will accept such reciprocity I do not know, but it is greatly to your credit to make the effort. It may damage the republican party for a while, but you will surely benefit the party in the end, especially if you lack wool, cotton, etc., as you propose. Ever yours, Theodore Roosevelt."

Following this letter he made speeches in Michigan, February 11, and in New York, February 13, 1911, strongly endorsing the Canadian reciprocity treaty and calling upon the people to uphold the hands of President Taft in urging it before congress. After its rejection by Canada Mr. Roosevelt, notwithstanding his former position in favor of it, and perceiving an opportunity to win the votes of farmers opposed to it, reversed his position in regard to it, as he has in other matters, and incorporated a plank in the Progressive platform favoring its repeal.

Governor Bass and other office-seekers on the Progressive ticket are traveling over their states bidding for votes upon this reciprocity issue. Mr. Roosevelt's flop in this matter is in accord with his action upon many questions, and the appeal for votes in New Hampshire by the Bass-Churchill-Rublee combination upon this issue is based upon the same flimsy foundation as their other so-called issues.

Without regard to the merits or demerits of the proposed Canadian reciprocity treaty, the followers of Mr. Roosevelt have the least reason of all to expect votes in this campaign by now announcing their opposition to it. No one will be deceived by such statements.—Manchester Mirror.

A Vote for T. R. Is a Vote for Wilson.

Throughout the country the wave in favor of continuing the greatest boom in business that the country has ever known by the reelection of President William Howard Taft continues to increase. "The people" are waking up the real motive behind Roosevelt, which is revenge, and that he is laboring for Wilson in his effort to defeat Taft. A vote for T. R. is a vote for Wilson.

The Republican Party.

Its memories are too sacred, its principles are too righteous and too enduring, its achievements are too inspiring and too lasting, its record too grand, its need to the Country is too great, its leadership and its membership are too patriotic and too filled with hope for the Country for it to be destroyed by the assaults of its enemies from without or within.—Congressman Mann of Illinois.

Down With Every Flag Except the American.

It is about time that laws are placed on the statute books prohibiting the flying of any other flag in this country than the American. Let the entire country catch the true spirit of Americanism. This country is no place for those not in sympathy with it. It is time that a firm hand was raised against the anarchists and the I. W. W.

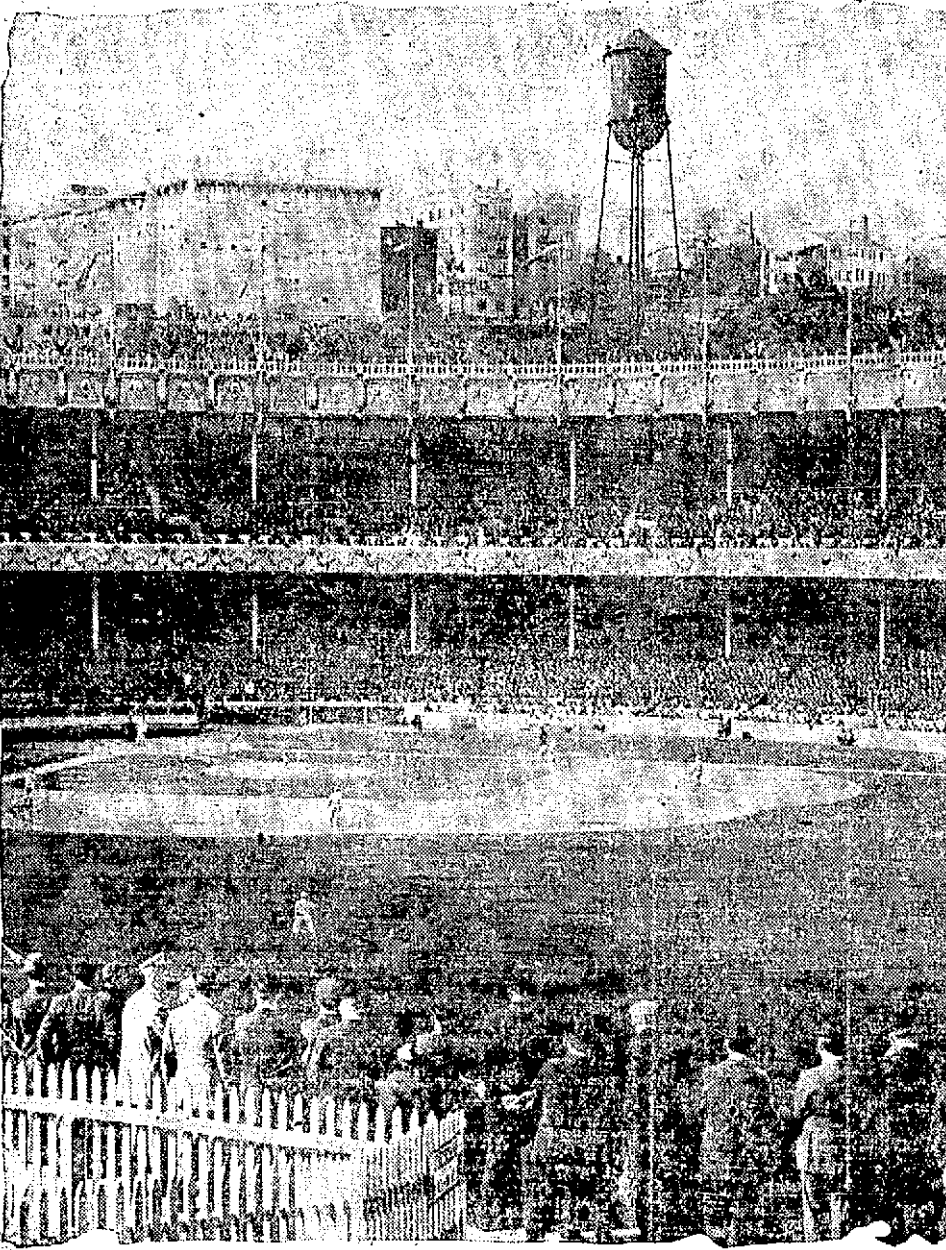

After looking Washington over Colonel Roosevelt went away convinced that it is as desirable a place of residence as he knows of.

As election day approaches, the number of men who are going to vote the opposition ticket for the first time in their lives always becomes steadily less.

View of the New York Polo Grounds and Crowd During the World's Series With the Red Sox.

Copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.

The Polo grounds, where the New York games in the world's baseball championship series between the Giants and the Red Sox were played, is a monster stadium, seating 25,000 persons, and cost $500,000 to build. The photograph shows it filled to capacity, with the Red Sox at bat and the Giants in the field. At the upper right may be seen the famous Jannet mansion, which was several times the headquarters of General George Washington in the war of the Revolution. It is now a museum filled with colonial relics.

FALLING ASLEEP.

An' even in de moonlight you would find her rompin' still.

Followin' de butterfly or swingin' in a tree,
Miss Summertime was busy an' as happy as could be,
But de blossoms dey is faded, an' de leaves begin to fall,
An' Miss Summertime she's actin' like she hear de sleepy call.

She keeps a-laughin' faintly, same as little gals or boys,
Dat's gettin' kind o' drowsy, but don't want to leave deir toys,
We'll miss her merry singin' an' her dancin' an' her smile;
But you sho'ly couldn't blame her if she wants to rest a while.

Bird's Eye Views.

Woodrow Wilson speaks courtously of Mr. Taft, but cannot be persuaded to go as far as Col. Roosevelt once went and advocate him for the presidency.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Mr. Editor—It's progressives, progressives, everywhere. Let us hope that some member of our legislative delegation to be will be progressive enough to introduce a bill in the next legislature to allow the City of Portsmouth to appropriate a sum of money for Sunday concerts during the summer months. We have the music but not the money. We hope the City band, the Italian band and the Eureka Drum Corps will endeavor to interest their delegates in this matter. MUSICAL.

Mr. Editor—The people that are complaining about the inadequate fire service at the South End should be patient and wait the arrival of the new hand fire machine for the Gilmot Club. If comfortable quarters were provided at this end of the city the club members might be induced to locate their machine and quarters there. Would it not be in order to have a location suggested, and right here it might be added that one member of the club claims that with a good machine they could throw a stream from Hadley's brook over the clock tower on the Jones Brewery. However, my experience with hand tub associations has been that they can throw air farther than water. FIRE HOSE.

MISS KELLEY BECOMES BRIDE OF ARMY OFFICER

Brilliant Wedding at Home of Bride's Brother in This City.

The wedding of Miss Margaret V. Kelley, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley of this city, and Maj. Callan, U. S. C. A. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Callan of Knoxville, Tenn., was solemnized at six o'clock on Thursday evening at the church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. E. J. Walsh, P. R., performing the ceremony, being present.

The bride who was handsomely gowned in white satin and wore a veil, was attended by Mrs. John W. Kelley, as matron of honor and she was given in marriage by her brother, John W. Kelley. The groom was attended by Major F. K. Ferguson, U. S. C. A. C. and both were in full dress uniform.

Following the church ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother, 22 Middle street and it was a brilliant affair and largely attended. Major and Mrs. Callan were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kelley and Major Ferguson.

Besse of Boston entered and served a wedding supper. Major and Mrs. Callan left on the 7.27 train for Boston, and they will go on a wedding trip of several weeks and on their return will reside at Fort Andrews, Boston Harbor, where the groom is in command.

The bride was one of the best known women employees of the government and held possibly the most responsible position of any woman in the country, having been for some years the assistant of Mr. George E. Roberts, the director of the U. S. Mint.

Among the out of town guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Callan, of Knoxville, Tenn.; the groom's sister, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Morris of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. George E. Roberts, director of the Mint, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stearns of Waltham, Mass.; Miss Rosa Byrne of Roxbury, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Rich, General Solicitor of the Boston and Maine Railroad, Boston; Miss Marjorie Gane of Chicago; Mr. John Carpenter of Boston; Miss Florence Lawrence, Rockport, Me., for Boston.

Sailed—Mary E. H. G. Dow, for coal port.

Mrs. John Fletcher has returned from a visit to friends in Portsmouth.

Miss Virginia Skinner is the guest of relatives in Dorchester, Mass.

Ralph Tucker expects soon to take a position in Augusta, Me.

That curious conglomeration of ancient junk known as the dredger "Saco," which was lately hauled up over a week for repairs, has again broken down, after the surprising feat of working two entire days without collapse of some sort. The "Saco" may have been considered an up-to-date dredger at about the time Fort Sumpter was fired upon, but as far as she is concerned at present, the completion of the job in Pepperell's Cove appears as remote and uncertain as the election of T. R. to the presidential chair.

BATTLESHIPS GATHER AT NEW YORK FOR REVIEW

Cruiser Montana in Collision With Lumber Laden Steamer But Not Damaged.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Eight battleships, two armored cruisers and two scout cruisers joined the war vessels in the Hudson river today and before night other ships of the Atlantic fleet will have dropped anchor for the mobilization and review next week.

There are now 25 battleships in line. The arrivals today were the Georgia, Minnesota, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Kentucky, Kearsarge, and Maine of the battleship class; the armored cruisers Montana and Tennessee, the scout cruiser Birmingham and Chester and the supply ship Dixie.

The cruiser Montana was in collision with a lumber laden steam ship Ossabaw of Quarantine this morning, piercing the steamship's hull at the water line. The cruiser was not damaged and the Ossabaw, although the water poured into her hold was able to make port unassisted.

The Ossabaw, arriving from Sabine was reported in Quarantine, and had not anchored when the cruiser which had been at anchor when astern, gently to fetch on her chain. Her sternway was slight and the Ossabaw maneuvering to avoid the steamship St. Laurent, just leaving Quarantine fell broadside against the stern of the war ship. Slight as the impact was it keeled the Ossabaw over to port and dented her plates enough to let the water in.

She cleared quickly however, and being loaded with lumber steamed up the harbor although very much down by the head. There was no communication between the vessels after the collision.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

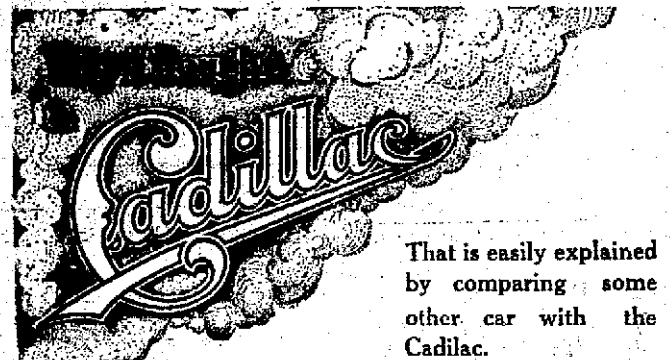

If you have ever fumed and fussed, because of dirt and grime and rust, and said unto yourself, "Oh, dear! This household work will kill, I fear!"—then it is time that you should find some other method far more kind.

Of all the woes a housewife bears, one always fills her day with cares: The kitchen after-meal-time mess, is quite enough to make one fuss. What, with the pots and pails and pans, the knives and forks and plates and cans, no task of man, however grim, the half as mean is handed him.

Two little willing workers aim to enter in this household game: their job, the lessening of work, a task that neither of them shirk. With active little hands and brains they grab the irksome household reins, till soon each kettle, pot or dish, is just as bright as you could wish. And not until the chores are done, from sink to silver, sun to sun, could anything inspire the two, to drop the tasks they have to do.

Therefore, if you have never known assistance such as we have shown, your troubles end, where joy begins. Now, Mrs. Drudge, the Gold Dust Twins! Henceforth, as dishes congregate, when cutlery, in sad array, awaits you at the close of day—"Cheer Up!" Forget the labor planned: You have two aids at your command.

WANTS UN-AMERICAN ACTIONS STOPPED

To the Editor of the Herald: "I am very much pleased with the response I have received from the letter I issued last week as commander of a Grand army post. One letter only attracts my attention, in which the writer says 'What would you wish in behalf of good government?' I will answer it, first I want all those Anti-American elements stopped.

"We beheld the spectacle in Faneuil Hall Square a night or two ago of a mob of 5000 shouting long live Anarchism. I want to see every mill door in Lawrence and throughout the state thrown wide open to any man or woman who wishes to work. If any injustice is done to any worker the laws of the state are amply sufficient to protect them.

"I want to see these buccaners who are leading these poor, ignorant foreigners crushed and driven out Massachusetts.

"Mr. Haywood says if any member of the I W W is injured, he threatens revenge. I want to say to Mr. Haywood that if any more men or women are injured by the acts of the I W W there will be vengeance coming to them.

"The people are aroused. The state militia are not all the men there are in the Commonwealth.

"The carrying of a red flag means nothing where no harm is intended, any more than the carrying of a Harvard or Yale flag, but Mr. Haywood knows that the red flag is the badge of blood, and violence and anarchy all through the world. If a mere handful of men could be driven out from our centres of manufacture, peace would be restored. Mr. Haywood should remember the old days of 1849 in California and those may come back. There are men enough to day in Massachusetts to draw a cordon around the insurrection and drive them out of existence.

"In conclusion allow me to say that I have every respect for the Catholic church; the priests and the leaders of the church have stood like a wall against all these anarchical movements.

"Regarding myself, my neighbors know me. I am proud to say that I never thought any less of a man because he wears a ragged coat or because he has a black skin.

TWIN FREAK DEAD.

Christian a Puzzle to Scientists and Anatomists.

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 10.—Millie Christian, said to be the greatest "twin freak" of human anatomy possessing apparently two separate and two distinct beings with one body, died yesterday at the old homestead in Columbus county where "they" were born in slavery. They were exploited in many countries a puzzle to scientists and anatomists. They were born to negro parents and died within a few hours of one another, aged about 50 years.

County Commissioner George Carlisle of Exeter was here today.

Clergyman's Son Had Tuberculosis; Now Well

People who have Consumption are often filled with bright hopes of recovery, only to realize that improvement is but temporary. Consumption is dreaded by everyone. Those who had it and used Eckman's Alternative can testify to its beneficial effects. No one need doubt, there is plenty of evidence from live witnesses. Investigate the following:—

Amenia, N. Y. "Gentlemen: Prior to February, 1908 I was located in Rochester, N. Y., suffering with LaGrippe, which developed into Tuberculosis. My physician gave me one month to live. I was having terrible night sweats, and mid day chills and losing flesh rapidly, having gone from 185 to 135 pounds. I coughed and raised continually and became so weak that walking a few feet exhausted me. On my return home my regular physician gave me little encouragement. My father who is a clergyman heard of Eckman's Alternative and induced me to take it. The night sweats and chills disappeared, my cough became better and gradually diminished, and in a few days I developed an appetite the first in months. I am now in perfect health, back to 155 pounds. I feel certain that I owe my life to Eckman's Alternative.

(Signed) E. H. Cowles. "Gentlemen: I cannot find words to express my appreciation of what your remedy has done for my son. It changed despair into hope within two weeks after he began taking it, and without any doubt in my mind it saved his life. I wish to add my endorsement to every word of his testimonial."

(Signed) Rev. J. J. Cowles. Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung troubles and in up-building the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit forming drugs. For sale by Benjamin Green and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

THE BOOMERANGS

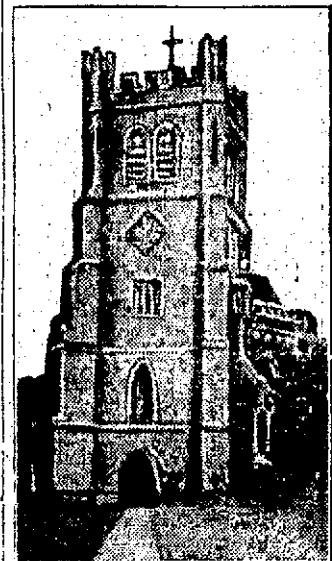

OBJECTED TO THE "PEALING"

Two Hours of Music of Bells Too Much for the Citizens of Staid Old Boston

Boston.—When every Sunday morning we hear the bells calling from the church towers of the city an invitation to worship God according to the Biblical mandate, "forsake not the assembling of yourselves together," very few people know that those brazen tongues are not only reminding men of their religious obligations, but of the survival of an instrument of music the origin of which is lost in antiquity.

Walking down one of Boston's fashionable streets on a Sunday morning the wayfarer, listening to the clanging from various quarters, some sweet and clear, others harsh and discordant or decidedly out of tune, will wonder when they will stop going and why people don't go to church without being "rung in" in this noisy fashion.

As a matter of fact, however, a full ring of peals has never been rung in America but once—in Philadelphia in 1858—and a quarter peal only has been rung from the old Christ church tower in Salem street, and from the belfry of the Church of the Advent. These two churches are the only ones in Boston possessing a full set of change-ringing bells, as they are called, and these are from English foundries.

The full number of peals is 5,040, and when rung for evening service at the old church of Paul Revere fame in Salem street and from the Advent turrets, the neighbors in the districts, who were not antiquarian in their tastes, after two hours of "pealing," sent vehement protests to the sextons of these respective houses of worship that they must stop the noise; for they could not get the children to bed and the vibrations were threatening to break their windows. Such was the popular feeling in regard to resuscitating a custom that still obtains in England and on the continent.—Boston Herald.

"PIRATE" HALTED BY LAW

Sails Forth With Comrade and Pilfered Provisions, but Unromantic Father Interferes.

Centrepont, L. I.—The crime of attempted piracy on the high seas led Owen Dennis, twelve years old, commander of a fleet of three "long rakish craft"—commonly called rowboats,—to be taken before Justice Landers here recently. William Dennis, prosperous resident of this township, was complainant against his son. The elder Dennis evidently regards piracy as a profession behind the times and wholly unsuitable to his son. Hence the peremptory of the youthful Captain Kidd in sailing that portion of the Spanish Main lying in Huntington bay is highly displeasing to him. In the unromantic eyes of the law young Dennis is charged with juvenile delinquency, and with being an incorrigible. He confessed his chief aim in life is to lead a career of piratical adventure. With the Jolly Roger, theoretically speaking, flying from the masthead of his flagship, Commodore Dennis and Master Jacob Wheeler, another pirate of tender years, set out in the troubled waters of the bay on Monday last. One of them sat at the oars of the swift vessel, the other rowed the second. A third craft, laden with provisions pilfered from the youngsters' respective homes, was at the end of a towline.

No definite plan of campaign had been formulated, Dennis confessed. They simply meant to cruise about until, with cutlass and dirk—or their jackknives—they could board some peaceful merchantman and force her crew to walk the well-known and justly famous plank. No such ship, however, crossed their path; and on Tuesday night, their provisions gone, they found themselves back home. On Thursday, however, Owen again dashed forth in pursuit of the rover's will-o'-the-wisp, with the result he faced the law. He will be examined further next week, and may be sent to a reformatory.

Folling a Briber. The justice of the peace was in the south and a marked state of ignorance. He was approached by a man desiring a divorce, and he did not know what to do. Calling a friend to his side, he whispered:

"What's the law on this p'int?" "You can't do it," was the reply "It's out of your jurisdiction."

The husband, observing the consultation and feeling keenly his desire to escape from the matrimonial woe, exclaimed:

"I'm willin' to pay well; got the money right here in my sock."

At this the justice assumed his gravest judicial air. Obviously he was deeply pained. Never before in all his life had he been so bowed down by grief.

"You know before you came here," he said sadly, "that it wasn't for me to separate husband and wife, and yet you not only take up the valuable time of this court by talking, but you actually propose to bribe me with money. Now, how much have you got in that sock?"

"About $6.50, your honor." "Is that so? Then I fine you $1 for bribery and $1.50 for talking up my time with a case out of my jurisdiction; and may the Lord have mercy on your soul!"—Popular Magazine.

Japanese Wedding. "From beginning to end," curiously enough, religion does not play even a small part in a Japanese wedding. No priest appears at any stage. On the evening of the great day, the bride, with a white silk covering on her head and face, and entirely dressed in pure white—not the color of joy, but of deep mourning, for the girl is now parting forever from her parents, more so, indeed, than if it was death that had taken her away, for after death her spirit would continue to be present in the home of her childhood, whereas now both body and spirit are gone—is carried to her new home. There she changes her mourning for a festive garb. A feast is celebrated. * * * the young couple withdraw and * * * in the presence of only the middleman and his wife and of two young girls who act as servants, they pledge each other in very solemn form, three times from each of three cups. This ceremony * * * is the essential part of the marriage celebration."—Japan of the Japanese, by Joseph H. Longford.

Swift Turtle.

July is the month when the turtles come out of the sea and lay their eggs in the hot sand of the Florida keys.

A turtle will accomplish this task in half an hour. She will emerge from the blue water, crawl up the beach, well out of reach of tide, dig a trench four feet long and a foot deep with her flippers, make in the middle of the trench a deep cylindrical hole, and, laying in this hole about one hundred eggs, she will fill up both hole and trench again, and crawl back to the water.

If the hen could equal this celerity there would be more money in chicken than in Standard Oil.

SYRUP OF FIGS IS BEST FOR A CHILD

Calms It's Little Stomach, Torpid Liver and Constipated Bowels

Mother! look at the tongue see if it is coated. If your child is listless drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad, has stomach diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means the little one's stomach, liver, and 30 feet of bowels are filled with poison and clogged up waste and need a gentle, thorough cleaning out.

Get a teaspoonful of Syrup of figs and in a few hours the foul decaying constipated matter, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness and you will surely have a well and smiling child shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful besides they love its delicious taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser, and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, Syrup of Figs and Malt of Senna, prepared by the California Fig Syrup Company. This is the delicious tasting genuine, old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

CONCORD OFFICIALS INSPECT LIGHTS

Guests of Mayor Badger and City Auditor Murray While Here.

Mayor French and the City Council of Concord with Supt. Chase of the electric light department were here on Thursday evening making an inspection of the system of street lighting in this city. They came down in automobiles and were met by Mayor D. W. Badger and city Auditor George Murray and took dinner at the Rockingham Hotel. After dinner Asst. Superintendent Sumner of the Rockingham County Light and Power Company escorted the party about the city, and they afterwards visited the big power plant on Daniel street. The Concord officials are thinking of changing over the present are system to one now in use in this city with the tungsten lights. They were greatly pleased with the system of street lighting in this city when they stated was the best of any city they had seen. Mayor French and the council were entertained later at the Elks Home and returned home by automobile later in the evening.

CITY IS BEING MODERNIZED

Riga, Near the Baltic Sea, is Fast Becoming a Busy Industrial Center.

St. Petersburg.—The ancient city of Riga, on the River Dwina, near the Baltic sea, is undergoing a wonderful change. The place was founded in 1201 by the Knights of the Sword, a German order instituted to convert the Letts and Estonians. It became in time a fortress of considerable strength. It did not lose the appearance of a mediaeval town until 1857, when its masonry walls were torn down. When Napoleon invaded Russia more than a century ago the governor of Riga burned 2,000 houses. Riga is now being converted into a modern industrial city. The centuries-old moat has been turned into a picturesque canal, and its banks have been planted with ornamental trees and shrubs, to provide a popular promenade. The old, narrow, winding streets of the inner town are being widened and straightened. The suburban quarter, for so long a collection of wooden huts, is being built over into large apartment houses. Several squares and public gardens and buildings are being constructed. One of the squares is used as a military parade ground. On it is the Russian cathedral, the city museum and a school, supplied by the chamber of commerce.

RANGER IS A HERO

Real Men to Be Found in Coeur d'Alene Reservation

How Captain of Fire Fighters, by Coolness and Bravery, Prevented Loss of Thirty-five of His Crew in Northern Woods.

Boise, Idaho.—Professor Wellings, tanned and toughened by his summer's work in the Coeur d'Alene national forest reservation, held his eastern visitors spellbound with stories of the fight he had helped to make against the fearful forest fires, says the Youth's Companion. He had gone out, with two others, under government commission, to study the forest and, coming back in August, they had met the fires and spent almost a month in fighting their way out of them.

"There are real men among these forest rangers," he went on. "In fact, there is no place for anything that is not genuine up there. The most thrilling story of heroism that I have heard in a long time is the story of Ranger Pulaski. It did not happen in the part of the reservation where I was, but I can vouch for its truth, for I have talked with some of the men who were with him.

"Pulaski had forty men under him, and they had been fighting a big fire for hours. Suddenly the wind rose until it blew a gale. The fire got beyond them, and it became a question of saving the lives of the men. They were many miles from a railroad or a clearing.

"Pulaski remembered that about a mile from where they were working was an abandoned mine shaft that ran back about forty feet into the hillside. He ordered the men to snatch their blankets from the camp and run for this shaft. Once there they packed themselves like sardines into the hole. Pulaski placed himself at the opening and stretched a blanket across it.

"In a few minutes the fire overtook them. The blanket at the opening caught and Pulaski jerked it away. Again and again this was done, and when the supply of blankets ran low he held the burning fragments across the mouth of the shaft with his bare hands.

"The suffering of the men from the heat and smoke was pitiful. They were fairly maddened by it, and some of them made a wild attempt to push their way out of the shaft. For a while Pulaski held them back by sheer physical strength, for he was an unusually strong man. But he knew that he must soon be over-ered, and that the men, in their frenzy, would rush out to certain death. He drew his revolver and told them that he would kill the first man to attempt to break away. The men knew that he meant it, too, and that knowledge brought them back to reason.

"It wasn't more than twenty minutes before the worst of the fire had passed the shaft. When it was safe to crawl out they found that five of the men were dead from suffocation, but the other thirty-five were all right. Pulaski himself was blinded and burned, but his sight was partly restored. He lost five men, to be sure, but with less courage and presence of mind he would have lost them all. I take off my hat to such a man. He is a real hero."

BREAKS JAIL TO FEED CATS

Nevada Miner Tramps Forty Miles That His Pets May Not Suffer—Act May Bring Freedom.

San Francisco, Cal.—When James Watkins, a miner, was placed in jail at Searchlight, Nev., recently, charged with having stolen a pair of lace curtains, he asked the jailer to see that his pet cats were fed. The jailer laughed at him, but when night fell Watkins broke jail and tramped forty miles across the desert to attend to his pets. The sheriff followed him next day in a motor car and found Watkins pouring milk for the cats at his cabin.

The charge against Watkins probably will be dismissed, his accuser having been impressed by the miner's affection for his pets.

NO CLEW TO HISTORY

STUDENTS OF ARCHEOLOGY ALL PUZZLED OVER YUCATAN.

Art and Architecture of Once Great People Are There, but Hieroglyphics Baffle All the Knowledge of the Scientists.

Pittsburg.—Through the efforts of Henry Hornbostel, head of the building bureau of the Pittsburg Carnegie Institute of Technology, there will be in the Carnegie Institute before a great while specimens of distinctive American art and architecture, the legacy of that mysterious people who lived ages ago in America, attained a high degree of civilization, developed a beautiful and cultivated art, and then passed away, leaving only these treasures of art and architecture to tell what their civilization had been. Already Mr. Hornbostel has been instrumental in arousing the Carnegie Museum of Washington to an interest in this field and it has set aside an appropriation for exploration of the art of Yucatan. In company with Lloyd Warren, Mr. Hornbostel made a pleasure trip to Yucatan during a recent vacation, going far into the interior of the country where lies waiting a storehouse of material for students of archeology with reference to hieroglyphics as well as art and architecture. The hieroglyphics are all the more alluring because of their baffling conditions, with never a clew yet discovered to work from in deciphering their meaning, which would reveal to us the minds of the wonderful ancient inhabitants of America. The priceless heritage has lain neglected and crumbling to ruins while at the same time huge sums are being paid by our museums for replicas of works of art of the eastern hemisphere.

With the completion of the Panama canal all signs point to a vast influx of northerners into these southern states and an awakening of interest in the study of the arts. Their pottery and decorative designs are already being made use of by enterprising dealers and advertisers in all kinds of wares as souvenirs of the celebration of the opening of the great canal.

"The day will soon come," says Mr. Hornbostel, "when excursions to the ruins of Yucatan will be made as easily as to the Holy Land or to Egypt. It is now impossible for petti- coats to travel into the interior of the country, as it is as wild and densely forested as the interior of Africa. Mr. Warren, myself and our guide made the journey from Merida, the capital of Yucatan, in the most primitive of wooden wagons drawn by three burros, and because of the loose construction of its wooden wheels and axles, which allow it to wobble from side to side without injury, wonderfully adapted to the rough stone roads of the country.

Two absolutely unique characteristics of the ancient people who built these ruins thousands of years ago, and of whom they and the pyramids on which many of them are built are the only trace, were noted by Mr. Hornbostel. The first is that the ruins were built without walls or foundations of any kind, there were no roads and the houses were built on the ground. The second is that the ruins were built on the ground, and there were no roads or foundations of any kind.

and such architecture of a primitive race is absolutely unique in history. They had no fear of an invading army and no preparation to repulse one. They had no idea of moving either an army or a city. The second peculiarity noted by the travelers is the original form of architecture in the construction of the buildings, which are made of small stones, cut and dressed, with an original cantilever construction of arches. This structure, Mr. Hornbostel claims, he has not found anywhere else in all his study of architecture, ancient, medieval and modern.

MAN KEEPS AWFUL VIGIL

Holds His Sister Over an Alpine Precipice for Eight Hours Until Rescuers Arrive.

Grenoble.—In the Haute-Garonne, not far from Toulouse, a terrible experience has just befallen a brother and sister, named VanGoethen, as the result of which the woman lies in the hospital dying, with a fractured skull, while her brother is in the same place desperately overcome by shock and exposure. The story of their adventure adds another to the long list of Alpine tragedies.

I. M. Van Goethen, who is an engineer in a paper mill, and his sister, accompanied by a friend, M. Sombardier, son of the director of the mill, set out to climb Mt. Saurousse. They made the ascent, but in returning they took the pathway leading to the glacier Domeson.

As they crossed a dangerous part of the path Mlle. Goethen slipped and slid down an ice incline toward the edge of a deep precipice. Her brother, in endeavoring to save her, also slipped, but was able to stop himself by clutching hold of a boulder. At the same time he grasped his sister's skirts just as she was sliding over the edge.

M. Sombardier crawled down to the boulder and endeavored to assist the brother to drag his sister back to safety. Their united efforts, however, were of no avail, as the woman, being unconscious, could not help herself.

The two men shouted for help for several minutes. Then M. Sombardier set off to seek rescuers, leaving the brother and sister in their perilous position. It was three hours before M. Sombardier reached Revel, and eight hours had elapsed before the rescue party returned to the glacier. There they found M. VanGoethen still supporting the body of his sister on the incline and only relieving the terrible strain by twisting her skirts round a rock. Then the rescue party got to work and succeeded in drawing his sister over the edge into safety. The brother fainted and had to be carried to Revel.

MONKEYS START SHIP CHAOS

Forty-One Animals Almost Make Egremont Castle's Voyage Long Nightmare.

Boston.—The voyage of the big steam freighter Egremont Castle from the far east came near being one long nightmare. Forty-one monkeys were taken on board at an eastern port. They refused to answer the dinner bell; they swarmed in the rigging, hopelessly tangling any loose ends of rope they could find, swung on the whistle rope, sending forth blasts of the siren in the dead of night; rifled the galley shelves and upset everything that was not nailed down.

Freedom of the ship had been granted to the monkeys to keep them in better health, but Captain Smith finally ordered them caught and put back in the cages. This resulted in the death of twelve.

Fingers and the Calendar.

No doubt most people remember the number of days in any particular month by recalling the rhymes they learned at school. Another method is practiced in Iceland, and it is so simple and ingenious as to be worth knowing. Shut the flat and let the knuckle of the forefinger represent January with its thirty-one days, and the depression between that and the next knuckle will represent February with its lesser number of days. And thus every month that corresponds to a knuckle will be found to contain thirty-one days; and every month that corresponds to a depression, a less number of days. The little finger will represent July, and beginning again with the forefinger knuckle it extends for August, and from this one continues to count through the months of the year.—Harper's Weekly.

"HUSBAND FAIR" BIG EVENT

Really the Ceremony of the Year in Quaint Belgian Village of Ecuassines.

Brussels, Belgium.—The tenth annual "husband fair" of the quaint little village of Ecuassines, situated a few miles from the Belgian capital, was held recently.

Just about a decade ago the maidens of the town resolved to take active steps to remedy the serious falling off in the number of eligible young bachelors. Believing in the well-known "feed the wretch" principle, they organized a breakfast, consisting chiefly of those dainty little cakes for which the Belgians are noted, washed down with delicious coffee and fresh cream. All the girls of the town club together to pay the cost of the breakfast, the excursions, and the ball which terminates the eventful day's proceedings.

At nine o'clock in the morning brightly young bachelors arrive from all parts of the kingdom by train and proceed direct to the town hall, where they sign their names in the "Golden Book" of the "Gris Marriage Society." Half an hour later they are served with breakfast by the young ladies, who are headed by their own elected "president." The ice now being to some extent broken, the young men and maidens set off to visit the quarries and the fine old church of which the inhabitants are justly proud.

Naturally the young ladies lead the way, but they often cast furtive glances at the crowds of young men who follow with great docility. At half-past eleven a visit is made to the old fifteenth century castle, which affords excellent opportunities for bringing the young people a little closer together.

At noon everybody goes to lunch—the men to restaurants and the girls to their homes. The latter tell their anxious parents about the morning's happenings.

Lunch must be finished by half-past one, as this is the time fixed for the official reception of the bachelors by the young ladies. The "president" makes a speech in which she offers a hearty welcome to the young men, and extols the charms of married life with the wife of one's choice. A blast of trumpets signals the end of her discourse, and dancing now begins in every available open space, or in the town hall if the weather is unfavorable. The young couples sort themselves out, and a number of engagements, followed by happy marriages, forms a fitting conclusion to the picturesque "Husband Fair" of Ecuassines.

SELF-SUPPORT FOR BLIND

Maine School to Pay Them for Work at Trades—Will Make Brooms and Weave Rugs.

Portland, Me.—If the plan which Millard W. Baldwin, the new head of the Maine School for the Blind in this city, is to put into operation when the next term of the school opens, proves a success there will be no blind person buried in a pauper's grave or go to a hospital as a charity patient in the future.

This school is an industrial one, where the blind are taught to make brooms, cane chairs, weave rugs and other trades such as are adaptable to the blind. In the past those who went there have received no compensation for their labor. They were given their board and no more.

By Mr. Baldwin's plan each man and woman will be paid on the piece system. At the end of each week he or her board will be deducted. In addition a certain per cent, according to the amount earned, will be taken out and deposited to the earner's credit in a savings bank. So long as the blind person remains in the school this money cannot be drawn from the bank by him or her, except by the approval of the trustees of the school. In this way a fund will be created for each pupil for use in later life. Another feature which will be introduced in the school by the new superintendent is that of reading the newspapers to them. A certain hour will be designated, when all will gather in the big hall of the school and Mr. Baldwin will read the important news of the day to them.

Mr. Baldwin is a native of the State of New York and was for many years connected with the educational work of that state, both as a teacher and a supervisor of schools. For several years past he has been engaged in business in Maine, but was induced to take his present position because of a lifelong interest in the work of teaching those afflicted with loss of eyesight.
